

Experiential Learning in the Heart of India's Fashion Capital

The Department of Fashion Design at Chitkara Design School, Chitkara University, continues to enrich academic learning through meaningful real-world exposure. Our Fashion Foundation Year students recently embarked on an educational visit to Delhi, where they explored designer retail environments and sourcing hubs in Mehrauli and Nehru Place, gaining valuable insights into contemporary fashion practices, materials, and retail presentation.

The experience also connected students with India's rich textile and craft heritage through visits to Dilli Haat and Surajkund craft fairs, as well as an insightful curatorial walkthrough at the National Crafts Museum. A highlight of the tour was the visit to the India Art Fair, where students explored contemporary artistic expressions and participated in workshops that expanded their creative thinking.

This educational tour provided a holistic learning experience bridging classroom knowledge with industry exposure, cultural understanding, and creative inspiration, while preparing students to become thoughtful and future-ready designers.
